Foreword

During America's formative years, American youths were instructed in their homes. Their education included the ever-essential three R's—reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic.

At the beginning of the nineteenth century, instruction was transferred to the little red schoolhouse, which is symbolized by our red cover. Here, in this small backwoods beginning, the process of learning was continued in a more formal way. The three R's were broadened and intensified.

The modern educator realizes that education 1960 style must not be limited to book knowledge. He knows that each division of our secondary education contributes to our total learning pattern. From our faculty and classes, we learn age-old truths, study the past, and prepare for the future. From our activity program, we learn to become good leaders and intelligent followers. We learn the worth of responsibility, the meaning of service, and the basis of democratic principles. From our athletic program, we learn good sportsmanship, a quality which is needed not only while playing football or checkers, but during our entire lives. We learn to accept both victory and defeat with the proper spirit.

And all of this has a purpose—to make American youths well-rounded personalities, who will contribute to their homes, their churches, their schools, their communities, their country, by being well-informed, never misinformed individuals, and by never once forgetting that "Learning is a continuous process."

Joint School Committee

The twelve schools in the Oil City Area School System are operated by a Joint School Committee consisting of fourteen board members from the four school districts. The Committee is chosen by the Oil City Area School Board to operate the district schools.

The superintendent of schools, who is elected by the Joint Board, is charged with the responsibility of supervising the operation of the schools within the framework of a policy determined by the Joint School Committee. The objective of the Committee is to provide the best possible educational opportunity for the people of our community in the most effective and economical manner.

Officers are: Mr. B. G. McFate, president; Mr. Donald Secor, first vice-president; Mrs. Louise Stevenson, second vice-president.

Administration

The conscientious superintendent of the Oil City Area Schools for the last fourteen years has been Dr. H. Virgil Grumbling.

He was born in Homer City, Pennsylvania, where he attended elementary school and high school. After graduation, Dr. Grumbling attended Indiana State Teachers College, University of Pittsburgh, and Waynesburg College. From these colleges he received his Bachelor's, Master's and Doctor's degrees in education.

This educational leader shows a great interest in progressive scholastic trends as is shown by his membership in various professional and civic organizations.

The class of 1960 wishes to express its thanks to Dr. Grumbling for his never ceasing work with the school board, through which we gained a varied school program, skilled teachers, and the necessary and effective facilities for learning.

Mr. Carl H. Townsend
Principal

Administration

Ideally, the principal of a high school should be a man who possesses many qualities. He should have tact, friendliness, understanding and a sense of humor. His interest in his work, his teachers, and his students should be, at all times, sincere. He should handle disciplinary problems in a manner to command respect.

We, the graduating class of 1960, have had such a principal. Now that we are leaving Senior High, we are beginning to realize how important a part Mr. Townsend played in shaping our lives, not only as students, but as individuals. His policy has always been that of "the open door." He has given of himself in a way that we shall never forget. He has commanded our respect, our admiration, and above all—our liking. We believe him to be our friend.

Mr. Townsend was born in Arcanum, Ohio. He attended Ohio University, where he earned an A.B. degree. He received his M.Ed. degree from the University of Pittsburgh. His hobby is camping, and his talent, we believe, lies with people.

Mr. Townsend is capably assisted by Mr. Townley and Mr. Kaufman.

Special Services

Always ready with a smile and a kind word were our guidance counselors, who held conferences with large groups and with individual students. They helped us deal with problems pertaining to grades, social attitudes, and our future plans. The department also brought in college representatives and outside speakers for careers.

Our library, staffed by two librarians and forty students, also played an important role in each student's life. Serving as a quiet corner, the library provided a place to catch up on the latest news in the local paper, to do reference work and general reading, as well as a place to listen to popular and classical records.

Health and Safety

Safety education and driver training stressed safety to all students while this year's health course, covering ten units, again emphasized the dread disease, cancer.

The cancer unit was handled differently from the others. All girls made a cancer notebook which, when completed, included: instructions, reference notes, questions and answers, a cancer case history, and a current cancer report. A student-designed cover gave each notebook a professional look. Fifty notebooks were then chosen and sent to a number of cancer headquarters, district and state conventions, the State Department of Health, and various other places. Through these notebooks, students not only gained a better knowledge of cancer but also performed a service for the community.

Although Mr. Houtz teaches Betty Nunemaker and Viola Burneisen to be self-reliant, the girls seem to be looking for outside help.

Mrs. Bartlett, Sally McFadden, Marilou Wagner, Susan Comet, and Ellen Goldberg review cancer notebooks made in health classes.

Sally Bankson proves to Mr. Webster and members of her plane geometry class her ability to use axioms and postulates.

Angles, axes and arcs challenge us.

Armed with compasses, protractors, and slide rules, 283 students enrolled in mathematics courses. In plane geometry, the theorems relating to plane figures were studied. Equations, arithmetic and geometric series, and binomial theorem were covered in Algebra II. Advanced algebra mathematicians studied higher degree equations and were introduced to analytic geometry and the calculus. Trigonometry students learned the functions of an angle and its applications. Solid geometry dealt with the relationship of lines and planes in space and with properties of regular solids.

Our mathematics department prepares students to contribute to the space age.

Mr. Wells explains to Jim Etzel and Peggy McCumber the basic fundamentals of algebra I.

"Reading maketh a full man, conference a ready man, and writing an exact man." The English department encompassed these three essentials of education through academic, general, commercial, and vocational English. Besides these four divisions, two advanced academic classes were offered for those juniors and seniors who wanted a more intense English background.

English classes, which were required of all students, strove for a well balanced program of grammar, literature, reading, and composition. A department-sponsored trip to Edinboro State Teachers College to see Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" was taken on November fourteenth.

In addition to mastering their own language, 188 students tackled a foreign tongue. Studying under Miss Eddy for the past year, forty-five señors and señoritas and thirty-five messieurs and mesdemoiselles gained knowledge in the language field. Various devices, including singing and talking records, bulletin boards, and displays aided in the French and Spanish students' learning.

Mrs. Haney's 143 Latin students learned necessary background by means of slides, art works, and handicrafts. Plays and speeches increased their vocabularies. On December first, Mrs. Skinner replaced Mrs. Haney who resigned and now resides in Florida.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Haney, Larry Tingue, Chester Mochel, John Dabrowski, Joyce Kennedy, Barbara McClintic, and Shirley Snyder (back row) illustrate and explain their Latin projects to William Diven, Clifford Spence, Kent Manby and Jane Miller (kneeling). The use of many and varied visual aids helps to enrich the Latin students' background.

Mr. Davis, new at Senior this year, teaches a very complete program of art to his students. His tenth grade enthusiasts have begun a three year program which introduces them to the many fields of art such as advertising, commercial art, metal work, and other practical applications. Creativeness on the part of the students is urged in this three-year program.

At present, the eleventh and twelfth graders may elect their own fields. A few of the projects chosen are oil painting, glass work, fashion design, sculpturing, interior decoration, and jewelry work.

The music program, directed by Mr. Runzo and Mr. Puleo, is pictured and described in the activity section of this annual.

Business- A world of budgets and balances.

Business Education

The business education course offered a busy life for 203 Seniorites. Secretarial and clerical sequences were offered with sixteen varied subjects under the direction of six teachers. Secretarial students majored in shorthand and clerical students, in bookkeeping.

According to a new Pennsylvania state law, each business education student must have two semesters of both mathematics and science. Previously they had been required to have only one semester of mathematics and no science. This year the students had a chance to win shorthand pins. They took tests to determine their speed and the type of pin they would receive.

In May, various local business firms cooperated in a work-experience program giving senior students an opportunity to use the skills they acquired during the past four years.

The business department endeavors to meet both the vocational and personal needs of its members.

Learning homemaking the modern way

Homemaking

Our well-equipped department offered two types of courses for those 60 sophomore, junior, and senior girls interested in home economics. General homemaking, an elective course, gave a diversified background to girls majoring in other fields; while vocational homemaking, a major course, gave preparation for homemaking and wage earning. In addition, 81 freshmen girls took a required introductory course.

Besides various school projects, the girls participated in an educational trip to Pittsburgh, where they observed home economics applied to business and industry. Also, a nursery school was operated by the department for one week, so that the students might learn methods of child care and guidance.

With an eye to the future Jeanne Sterner, Sandra Rembold, and Judy Whitling learn from Miss Barclay the art of food preservation.

Social Studies

Guided by a staff of six social studies teachers, 738 students, through such courses as American history, civics, Pennsylvania history, problems of democracy, world cultures, and world history, explored the past and the present. Perhaps the word future should be added, for the seniors were shown, among other things, how to make out income tax forms. Oh! Confucius, where art thou!

Last year a new one-semester course, world culture, was added to the curriculum. This course can be taken along with the world history course or separately. The class of 1961 will be the first to be required to have this subject.

We are grateful to these teachers for helping us to know our world and its people better.

Sophomores study foreign cultures.

Clinton Hays, Carol Rogers, Patricia Beatty, Barbara DeShong, Jim McCrea, Patricia Stralka, and Diane Stevens learn from Mrs. Caldwell that world culture includes not only music and art but also science, habits, customs, and dress.

Bob Clark gains experience with the oxy-acetylene cutting torch while preparing for arc welding.

Vocational A B C's Autos, Blueprints, Charts

Vocational and Industrial

In the vocational department 109 boys, preparing for trades or further schooling, alternated between the shops and classrooms. In the auto shop the boys' projects were concerned with repairs to cars of the faculty, parents, and students. The petroleum refining and natural gas shop was the scene of the construction of an oil derrick. The boys also welded students' chairs and tables, and made tools. Those in the machine shop had many individual projects, such as the seniors' repairing Christmas toys.

Two hundred thirty-eight boys from grades ten through twelve took the industrial arts course this year. Seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students worked on projects such as boats, footstools, wall plaques, scrolled wall shelves, and book ends. The advanced group-grades ten, eleven, and twelve-worked on coffee tables, gun racks, lamps, and salad bowls, among other things. Each project required from one month to one year to complete.

Eight science courses were offered this year. Introductory biology students dissected various animals while the advanced group, aided by a newly acquired incubator, studied the development of the chicken.

A new oscilloscope, choke coil, and ripple tank were used in physics. Interested boys in the advanced chemistry class worked on special projects such as an oil refinery, while 62 girls participated in related science. This course was designed to help them gain a better understanding of science and chemistry in the home.

With an eye to the 1960 Science Fair, Dan Nester and Louis Adelson construct their exhibit, an oil refinery. Mr. Bromley gives them a few pointers.

WILLIAM WELLS

Your lost friends are not dead, but gone before,
Advanced a stage or two upon that road
Which you must travel in the steps they trod.

—Aristophanes

Most Industrious
Tom Jamison, Judy Thomas.

Most Intellectual
Sandra Horn, Dennis McCarthy.

Twelve super seniors share spotlight.

Friendliest
Judy Myers, Bob Johnston.

Superlatives

Because the seniors know their own class better than would other classes, only the members of the senior class voted for their choices in this nonsensical campaign. Each couple was chosen on its ability to fit with the silly title. The co-editors tried to pose the couples in a way that would illustrate each title the best and yet flatter each couple.

Best All-Around
Bill Myers, Judy Burchfield.

Most Athletic
Janet Connor, Jim Jones.

Funniest
Jim Earley, Gretchen Diem.

Sparkling personalities of Senior Class

Top Six

During the late winter, these six top senior personalities were chosen by both seniors and the juniors. These people were very well known around our school because they had participated in a number of extra-curricular activities. It is considered a great honor to be chosen for the "Top Six."

From our ACTIVITIES
we learn to serve our school and community.

Student Council emphasizes school rules.

Jim Montie and Helen Adams help Mr. Bromley feed a hungry crowd during a football game.

Student Council

To insure better citizenry and to encourage leadership and dependability are the aims of the Student Council.

Projects of the Student Council included: sponsoring the mystery play, running the concession stand at the football games, and presenting a subscription of The Derrick to the school library. A dictionary and stand were given by the Student Council to the senior high homeroom which had the most visitors on Visitors' Day. An electric pencil sharpener was given to the junior high homeroom with the most visitors.

This year the officers were: John Schoch, president; Frank Turner, vice-president; Leah Aull, secretary; and Lonnie Cohn, treasurer. Mr. Bromley was their adviser.

National Honor Society

Each year, for the past thirteen years, members of the faculty have chosen fifteen per cent of a senior class to be inducted into the National Honor Society. These selections are based upon the character, scholarship, leadership, and service of each student.

Miss Eddy—the new adviser, Mr. Mohr—treasurer, Thomas Jamison—president, Kay Kahle—vice-president, and Sandra Horn—secretary, served as officers of the Honor Society for this school term.

An important endeavor of this organization is to earn money for a scholarship to be given to a worthy member of the school's chapter of the National Honor Society. These funds are obtained by the Society's managing the refreshment stand at the home basketball games.

Miss Eddy, the new adviser, reviews the Honor Society Constitution with officers, Kay Kahle, Mr. Mohr, and Sandra Horn.

Members set new horizons with old goals.

Venango County cherry pie baking contest winner Frances Brown shows Mrs. Best how she made the pie crust. Meanwhile, Linda Young proudly shows to Miss Barclay the pin presented to her as the Betty Crocker homemaker of tomorrow.

Future Homemakers of America

To make themselves better homemakers, the members of F.H.A. look to their motto—"Toward new horizons."

The girls had several projects this year, such as sales outside the school. During part of the year, they distributed to the community 5000 "Decorator Guides" for the Williams Company paint store in order to earn $150. Most of the projects were to raise money for the trip that the girls took to Pittsburgh.

In the fall, a few girls went to the regional meeting at Conneaut Lake and to the Venango County meeting at Franklin in the spring.

Leaders in tomorrow's business world

Future Business Leaders of America

The aim of Future Business Leaders of America is to have its members become more responsible, to become better leaders, and to improve working methods.

Under the direction of Miss Lamb, Miss Boal, and Mr. Mohr—advisers, the forty members sponsored a record hop in the gymnasium January 22, after a basketball game. In the spring the district meeting contests were held here, and a booth was entered in the Student Council Fair.

This group elected Arvilla Cropp, president; Jack Williams, vice-president; Bonnie Williams, secretary; Ralph Reed, treasurer; and Jerry McElhattan, recorder.

This club set many tasks for itself and accomplished much.

Rose Kerstetter, Nancy Hutchison, Becky Olen, and Joan Nelles assemble The News Letter for area teachers. This is a major project of F.B.L.A.

F.T.A. members Susan Comet, Sandra Lee Smith, and James Earley act as guides for Senior's annual Visitors' Day.

Future Teachers of America

This year the John Dewey Chapter of the Future Teachers of America had an enrollment of seventy students.

Movies, speeches by representatives from different colleges, and talks by special education teachers were enjoyed by members. One of the highlights of the year for the senior members was a visit to Allegheny College. Some of the students served as guides on Visitors' Day.

Barbara Thorton, a junior, was elected secretary of the Northwestern District at a meeting of the F.T.A. held in Erie.

The officers for the year were: Sandra Lee Smith, Linda Rea, Susan Comet, and Karen Montie. The advisers for the club were Mrs. Deiter, Miss Burgert, and Mr. Pringle.

Art Club

Every other week, thirty-seven art enthusiasts, under the guidance of Mr. Davis, were to be found in room 102, scene of the Art Club meetings. This group elected Charles Hunt, president and Claire Pettigrew, secretary.

Regular art students continued working on their class assignments while other members sketched or completed various projects.

In October, members competed in the annual community Halloween window-painting contest. Bill Myers, Gary Mullen, and Ron Ames won a first class rating.

Mr. Brown demonstrates the operation of our motion picture projector to Thomas Venturella and Charles Venturella. Mr. Brown is in charge of the visual aid program at Senior.

Books--the link between present and past

Carole Lindquist and Susan Grumbling view the bulletin board and hope that the students will enjoy it.

Library

Each year sixteen sophomore girls, recommended by their teachers, join the senior and junior staffs and continue to serve until graduation. Under the direction of Miss Hoy and Miss Elder, these girls learn efficiency and dependability as they dust the 7,000 books, arrange the 100 magazines, and check out pamphlets, college catalogs, and records.

Two attractive bulletin boards are a part of the pleasant library surroundings. One of these is prepared by Miss Elder and the other, by Susan Grumbling and Carole Lindquist. Every two weeks the bulletin boards receive a change of face varying from holiday greetings to reading hints.

Students anticipate and appreciate each variation of the displays.

Members probe ancient relics, customs.

Mrs. Skinner, the new Latin Club adviser, reviews the club's constitution with Joyce Kennedy, the scriba.

Latin Club

Once a month, the forty-seven members of Latin Club met in room 223 to probe Roman customs and to acquaint themselves with the Latin language. Mrs. Skinner, who replaced Mrs. Haney, now residing in Florida, served as adviser. Members elected John Dabrowski as consul, Chester Mochel, lictor, and Joyce Kennedy, scriba.

The club had many activities. Committees were appointed by the consul to prepare various programs for each month. On December first, Marion Michaels, who was the guest speaker, told the members about her trip to Italy as the 1959 exchange student. Plays and movies concerning the Roman Empire and its people were shown to the group.

Through this extra-curricular activity, each student broadened his knowledge of and gained insight into the ancient world.

Members study methods of communications

Radio Club

Radio Club, comprised of nineteen members, was headed by president, Oscar Frohne; vice-president, Richard Marshall; secretary, Jan Wydro; treasurer, Fred Diven; and adviser, Mr. Etzel.

The club aimed to familiarize its members with radio and electronic equipment.

Newscasters

"Good morning," greets one of the eleven newscasters from the control booth located in the speech room. The speech department, in co-operation with WKRZ, broadcasts school news to the community. Mr. Lewis was the adviser, and Irene Karasinski, program chairman.

Clubs encourage service and research.

Public Reading Club

Twenty members, advised by Mrs. Gill, conducted devotions and introduced assembly programs. Irene Karasinski was president; Neva Gray, vice-president; Linda Marshall, secretary; Sandra Watson, treasurer.

Out of this club has grown the atmosphere of giving and sharing.

Chemistry Club

Chemistry Club was composed of students fostering an interest in chemistry. Members worked on qualitative analysis, projects for the Science Fair, and listened to speeches by area chemists.

Officers were Tom Jamison, Denny McCarthy, Bill Manby, and Mr. Bromley, adviser.

CHEMISTRY CLUB—Front Row: Nancy Ross, Donna Dinberg, Donna Eller, Sandy Lee Smith, Sandra Toth, Judy Thomas, Nancy Rankin. Row 2: Karl Siverling, Henry Ritchie, Fred Diven, Oscar Frohne, James Earley, Louis Adelson, Mr. Bromley. Row 3: Tom Jamison, Carl Pierce, James Ball, Dennis McCarthy, Barbara Ossoff, Harvey Cohen, Charles Samonsky, Allan Levine. Back Row: Richard Marshall, John Schoch, William Manby, Helen Adams, Robert Johnston, James Montie, Terry Turner, Dan Nester.

Clubs practice service in the school.

Varsity O

Under the supervision of Mr. Wells, the Varsity O Club is made up of students who have earned a varsity letter. Members are entitled to wear the standard "VO" jackets. This year the club surprised the cheerleaders by giving each a blue megaphone.

Ushers

A group of seventy girls were ushers during community concerts, the Senior Class play, District Chorus, and various other evening programs presented at the school. Judith Thomas and Marion Michaels, members of the Student Council, supervised the group.

Vocational Board

George Black, president; Jim Dehner, vice-president; Ron Bickel, clerk; and Mr. Hale, vocational director, guided the Vocational Board for the school year, 1959-60. Nine members of this governing body were chosen by students of the department, and three were selected by Mr. Hale. In addition to being given the responsibility of conducting all social activities, these members must handle disciplinary problems for the department. In some cases it becomes necessary for the board to hold a trial and to administer punishment.

This organization had its lighter moments also. During the year the boys sponsored school dances, made arrangements for parties, and planned the annual Vocational Department picnic.

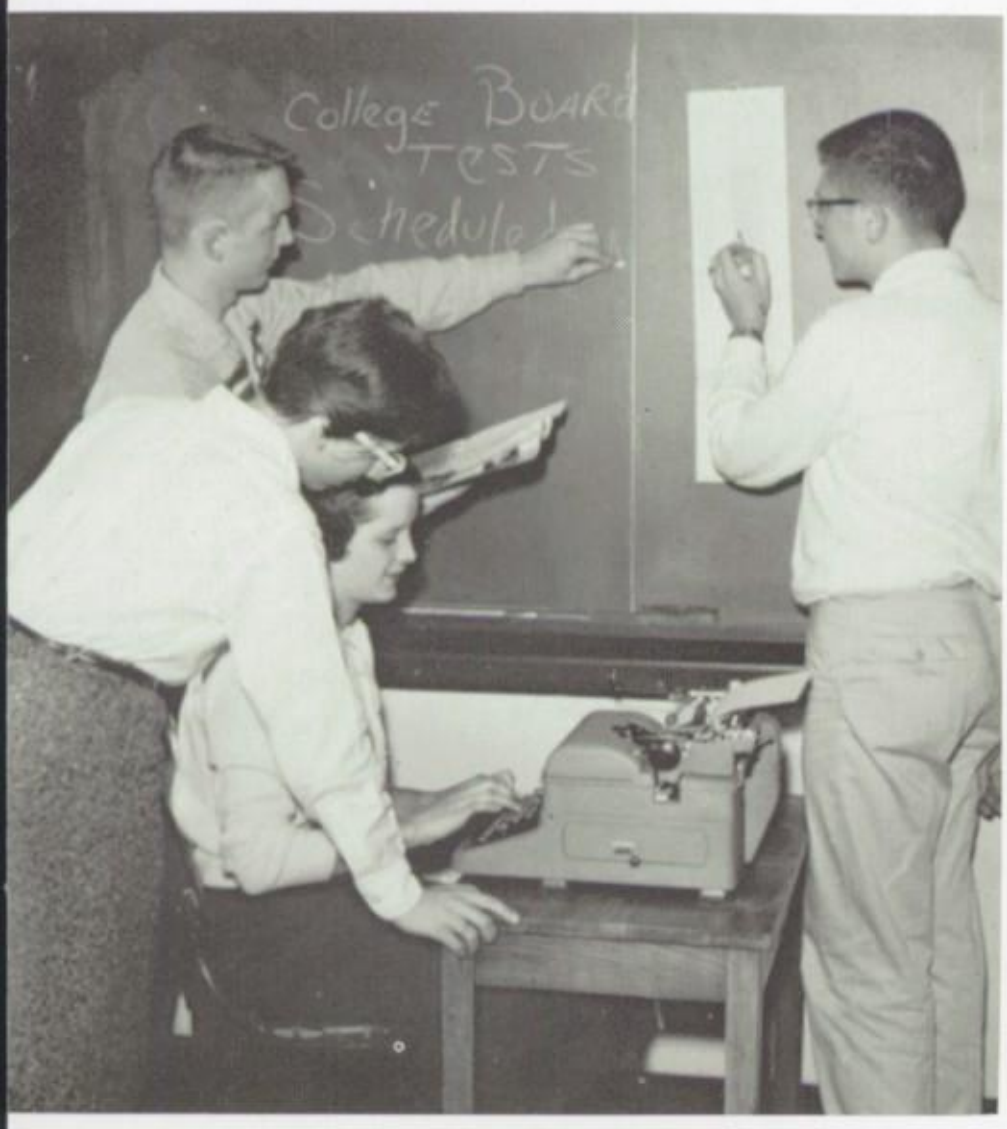
Read all about it in the Senior Hi News!



Meeting deadlines requires much effort on the part of everyone. Editor Donna Dinberg checks Virginia Barr's typing, Dave Edwards prepares headlines, and Gerald Anderson reads proof.

Senior Hi News

"Make-up, heads, leads," are common terms used by journalism students who publish the Senior Hi News. Racing to meet deadlines, the twenty-five member staff studies copy and proof reading, news and feature writing, headlines, reviews, and page make-up.

Aside from classwork, the members of the staff attend press conferences, banquets, and take an annual tour of the Derrick plant. These engagements introduce them to different aspects of news writing and acquaint them with outstanding members of the newspaper world.

Financed by the school board and advertisements from local business firms, the paper is distributed twelve times during the school year and has a circulation of 1,250.

The editor-in-chief is Donna Dinberg; the adviser is Miss Kaufman and the business adviser is Mr. Mohr.

The publication fulfills its purpose by keeping our school and community well informed.

Senior Class Play

"The charges are driving without a license, stealing a car, and wrecking into a telephone pole. What do you have to say for yourself, young lady?"

Susan Bryce came up with all the answers November 20, as the Senior Class presented The Unguided Miss to a near capacity audience. This problem occurs, as do many others, when a foreign exchange student comes to live at the Bryce home.

The production staff included: Nancy Gwyn and Jim Earley, student directors; Irene Karasinski and Jerry Anderson, wardrobe; Neva Gray, Barbara DeLong, Carol Haney, Jeanette McKenzie, Jeanette McKinley, and Pam Shettler, make-up; Marilyn Karns and Susan Secor, stage props; and Ellen Britton and Carol Matthews, hand props.

Mystery Play

On the evening of Friday, February 19, 1960, the auditorium of Senior High School was filled with a dark, gripping suspense; for this was the night of the presentation of "I Was a Teen-Age Dracula," a mystery-comedy written by Gene Donovan.

The setting for the play was an old country mansion, Dark Cedars. Here Dracula appeared in many eerie disguises which terrorized the inhabitants.

Under the supervision of Mr. Lewis, Nancy Gwyn and Neva Gray directed the play. Mr. Davis was in charge of scenery and Mr. Townley supervised the make-up staff.

The proceeds from the play were used for the Exchange Student and Stage Funds.

Speech Activities

"Speech is a mirror of the soul: as man speaks, so is he."

The Speaker's Club, under the guidance of Mr. Lewis, gives experience to those interested in the techniques of effective speech presentation. This club presents daily five minute broadcasts concerning school news and events over the local radio station WKRZ. In the spring, the members entered the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League Contests.

The members of the debate team are Jim Marshall and Carol Mathews, affirmative, Louis Adelson and Dennis McCarthy, negative, and Tom Socha, alternate. This year's topic is Resolve: That the federal government should substantially increase its regulations of labor unions. The five-member team met one evening a week after school in preparation for debates on this national topic with Titusville, Butler, other nearby cities, and the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League.

FORENSIC—Neva Gray and Linda Marshall, winner and runner-up of the "I Speak For Democracy Contest," and John Nelson, winner of the Optimist Oratorical Award, listen to a tape recording of their speeches. Mr. Lewis gives constructive criticism.

Christmas Play

In The Christmas Rose a young girl learned that the real spirit of Christmas is found not only in giving but in the attitude of the giver. Irene Karasinski, Edward Ralph, and Nancy Gwyn helped manage the play.

Stage Force

During the year, the Stage Force, advised by Mr. Townley, cared for the stage lights, doors, scenery, and mikes and offered any other required assistance. Ellsworth Sparks acted as manager for the group.

A Cappella

The one hundred seventeen voices of A Cappella Choir seek beauty and harmony amid the turmoil of everyday life. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Runzo, studies a repertoire of vocal music including, Bach chorales, ballads, Negro spirituals, nationality songs, religious hymns, and novelty numbers by contemporary composers. Mainly seniors with two previous years of vocal experience compose this group.

The major activities of A Cappella are a Christmas cantata, an operetta, and the traditional Swing Out. Besides school activities, A Cappella sings at various service clubs in Oil City, and takes an annual tour, this year's including concerts at area high schools and at Clarion State Teachers College.

The officers of A Cappella include Jim Montie—president, Judy Myers—secretary, Sidsel Agard—librarian, and Ellen Goldberg—accompanist.

On January 14, 15 and 16 the music department served as host to the annual Northwestern District Chorus. From this vicinity 180 select students gathered here for the festival. The guest conductor was Dr. Paul Campbell, associate professor of music education at Pennsylvania State University.

Chorus and Choir--steps to A Cappella

Girls' Chorus

Members of the Girls' Chorus, a sophomore organization, may become members of Girls' Choir and then A Cappella. Elected officers were Joanne Osman—president, Cathy Moon—secretary, and Patti Fitterer—librarian. The group, directed by Mr. Puleo, participated in several programs.

Boys' Ensemble

This year the Boys' Ensemble consisted of seventeen junior and senior boys chosen from A Cappella. These male songsters, directed by Mr. Runzo, rehearsed every Friday after school. On special occasions they sang as part of A Cappella Choir.

Ensembles--the highest achievement

Girls' Ensemble

Every Tuesday morning, seventeen senior girls could be heard rehearsing music for special programs. These girls, directed by Mr. Runzo, were chosen near the end of their junior year. Kay Kahle was elected manager, and Ellen Goldberg served as accompanist.

Girls' Choir

Fifty-four junior girls, directed by Mr. Runzo, constituted one of Senior's choral groups—Girls' Choir. The girls and their officers, Margaret Cohn—president, Janet Evans—secretary, and Sandra Allen—librarian, blended their voices in several assemblies and at Swing Out.

Operetta

The operettas produced in the past by our high school music clubs involved many evenings of seemingly endless rehearsals; yet we looked forward to these yearly musicals as a highlight of our high school experience.

Having produced "Hearts and Blossoms" in 1958, and Victor Herbert's "The Fortune Teller" in 1959, the music department decided that "Ask The Professor" should be this year's production. A college campus provided the setting for the musical. Students Kay Kahle, Jim Ball, and Connie Stempin kept the professor, Henry Ritchie, sufficiently annoyed with their unpredictable pranks.

Mr. Runzo and Mr. Puleo directed the production.

Batons, marching feet stress the beat.

Majorettes

Head majorette Ann Capps was seen passing 77 Sunset Strip while the juniors were found on the farm of The Real McCoys. This happened when the majorettes converted the auditorium stage to a television set and displayed their talents in the annual majorette assembly program.

Among the presentations of the seniors were Perry Mason and Hennessy. In addition to preparing for the assembly, this group spent much of their time working on halftime shows such as Junior Joins the Band, Peter Gunn, In the Good Old Summertime, and The Beatnik Band.

Band

Dressed in their blue and white uniforms, the sixty-eight talented musicians presented a colorful picture as they performed their routines during football halftimes for home audiences. With their director Mr. Puleo, band members also performed at three away games. During the football season the band participated in the pep meetings, blending their melodious tones along with those of the cheerleaders. This group also presented an evening concert.

This year the band elected James Ball—president, Nancy Hutchison—secretary, and John Slater—student director.

This organization displayed an interest in community affairs by participating in the Halloween parade and the Memorial Day parade.

Organists

At the beginning of the school year, Mr. Runzo selected organ students from a number of those who had expressed the desire to learn. To be eligible, students did not necessarily need to have an organ at home. These capable musicians were taught by Mr. Anson Jacobs. During the week each organist had one lesson and four practice sessions. This year, as in the past, the organ students provided music of various types for assemblies. The organists also participated in the Christmas Cantata. The organ, which was contributed by the Student Council in memory of Mr. Harland Mitchell, who served for many years as music director, has been in use for two years.

Swing Band

Providing the musical entertainment at the basketball games and adding variety to our basketball pep meetings, the Swing Band achieved great success with their arrangements of current tunes and old standards. Under the expert direction of Mr. Puleo, the twenty members kept hands clapping and feet stamping to the beat. Playing their instruments, the band contributed greatly to school spirit.

The Swing Band gave an assembly program during January of this year, and on March 17, took a special trip to entertain area schools.

This group was selected from the school band for their musical ability and talent. The group chose an eleventh grade student, Jack Williams, as their student manager.

Man, dig that cool sound! Tim Beach and John Velier entertain Linda Louret and Judy Miller.

We have our serious moments, too. Connie Stempin, Kay Kahle, Jim Ball, Henry Ritchie, and director, Mr. Runzo, rehearse for the Christmas cantata.

Music Club Council

The governing body for the various musical activities within the school is the Music Club Council. This year the Council consisted of eleven members: the president and the secretary of A Cappella, Girls' Choir, Girls' Chorus, Band, the managers of Boys' Ensemble, Girls' Ensemble, and Swing Band. The head majorette was also a member of the group. This organization has done a great deal to keep the music department running efficiently. Under the direction of Mr. Runzo and Mr. Puleo, the Council discussed matters which pertained to the music department as a whole, and also served as a policy formulating committee. The music department benefits from the service of this group.

Swing Out

"A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" vividly describes all nine girls of this year's Swing Out court. Of these nine girls one was chosen by the members of the junior and the senior classes to be the 1960 Swing Out Queen.

The queen and her court were presented during the thirteenth annual Swing Out program which was held on May 6, 1960. After announcing each member of the court and her escort, William Myers, president of the senior class, then crowned the queen.

Following the coronation a variation of musical selections were presented by A Cappella Choir, Girls' Choir, Girls' Ensemble, and Boys' Ensemble under the direction of Mr. William Blough, the guest conductor and director of music of Sharon Public Schools.

Oil Can Staffs

To maintain high standards, the 1960 business staff, which was headed by Marion Michaels, worked many long, hard hours to sell sufficient advertising for the yearbook. The financial success being assurred, co-editors Barbara Ossoff and Nancy Ross and adviser Miss Bell set to work planning each of the one hundred forty-four pages.

CO-EDITORS—Nancy Ross, Barbara Ossoff.

BUSINESS—Harvey Cohen-Circulation Manager, Marion Michaels-Business Manager.

The photography staff scheduled the pictures, identified every individual, and catalogued all of the names for the index. Then the literary staff compiled information received through interviews about classes, courses, and clubs. The typing staff prepared the pages for the printer. The book now having been in progress, the art staff began its work of advertising the sale of the 1960 Oil Can. The circulation staff then took orders for the yearbook from Seniorites. On March 15, "final copy" was marked on the mail to the printer.

Football

The football picture in Oil City Senior High School was rather dismal this season. Losing all eight games played is enough to tell the story. However, when Coach Blair Hildebrand issued the call for football candidates, more than one hundred boys turned out for practice. This is an encouraging outlook because the larger percentage of the boys was underclassmen.

During the season, Coach Hildebrand inserted his underclassmen into the varsity contests with anticipation that the experience gained this year would prove fruitful for the following season. Thus, through this new program, sophomores and juniors acquired a new perspective of the game while playing on the varsity team.

Football

Throughout his entire career, Mr. Hildebrand received a broad background of football. Between 1948 and 1953, he coached the Oilers, and in 1959 he returned as head football coach. He first became interested in athletics while attending Ferndale High School in Johnstown. In 1946, while attending Slippery Rock College, he was captain of the All-State football team; and in 1947, he participated with the Tri-State football team. Mr. Hildebrand, who received his master's degree at the University of Pittsburgh, also played football at Franklin & Marshall College while serving with the Marine Corps.

Assisting him are Mr. Enos, varsity; Mr. Russell, junior varsity; Mr. Clark and Mr. Applequist, junior high.

Fight on, team, fight on, cheer area football fans as they root for the Oiler team. Apparently one football enthusiast wants a better view of the teamwork on the field.

Harvest Ball

On November 25, seventy-five couples enjoyed dancing to the music of the Tommy Owen's Orchestra at the annual Harvest Ball.

Fall colors of red, brown, yellow, and orange accented the "horn of plenty." Additional decorations were assorted leaves, balloons, and cornstalks.

The "horn of plenty" also served as a background for the football queen, Judy Burchfield, and her court.

The decorating committee consisted of three elected members of each senior homeroom. Susan Grumbling and Carole Lindquist were co-chairmen and Mr. Davis, the art instructor, helped with decorations.

Basketball

On December 4, the Oilers officially began the 1959-1960 season with a heartbreaking loss—Clarion 44, Oil City 42. The team which got off to a slow start gained momentum in the middle of the season, but experienced a let-down toward the end. Difficulty in getting rebounds because of lack of height and poor shooting contributed to the downfall.

During the season Mr. Skinner, head coach, used eight or nine boys as starters hoping to find a winning combination.

Wayne Carll scrambles for the ball.

You must beat 'em at the tip-off, Oilers!

Although many of their efforts ended in defeat, the Skinner men, led by captain Lou Motter, and play-maker Pete Dabrowski, hustled all the way and displayed excellent team work.

Four returning lettermen, better overall height and experience, plus a fine junior high program will undoubtedly brighten future seasons.

Lettermen were: seniors—James Jones, Arthur Toth, Raymond Copper, James Montie, Louis Motter; juniors—John Dabrowski, Sam Hovis, Robert Abplanalp; sophomores—Richard Strawbridge.

Jack Winger and Jan Wydro served as senior and junior managers, and Ken O'Neil as statistician.

Wayne Carll finds himself in a jump ball situation.

Wrestling

Our 1959-1960 wrestling team was the best ever in Oil City. Sixty-seven boys worked diligently under coach Blair Hildebrand.

We are proud of the wrestling team's fine record, which was undefeated in Section Two competition for this year. Their only loss was to Section Three's Greenville on February 11. Because of this fine showing, the team was named Section Two League Team Champion.

On February 27, the team traveled to Titusville for the Section Two League Tournament, which they won. The individual league champions, who were awarded trophies were James McCumber, Edward Shontz, and Charles Samonsky. The following week Charles Samonsky won the District Ten Championship in the 145 pound class.

Fourteen varsity letters were awarded, nine of which went to seniors. But the future looks even brighter, for fifteen boys were presented with junior varsity letters.

Fred Karns attempts take-down.

TRACK—VETERANS—Front Row: J. Huntsman, R. Crawford (11), A. Coon, H. Cohen, R. Adams, R. Sullivan, K. Keller, F. Smith, C. Samonsky. Row 2: M. Mitcham, J. Deets, D. Graham, G. Black, R. Ames, F. Track

After the seven local track meets for this year, Mr. Wallace—head coach, Mr. Enos, Mr. Skinner, and Mr. Applequist—assistant coaches, accompanied the team to the Section and District Championships. Of the 126 candidates who competed for the Oilers, six were returning lettermen.

Tennis

The ten members of the 1960 tennis team, who were coached by Mr. Porter, practiced daily with hopes of winning the six matches against Meadville, Erie Academy, and Erie Strong Vincent. Four returning lettermen constituted the foundation of our squad this year.

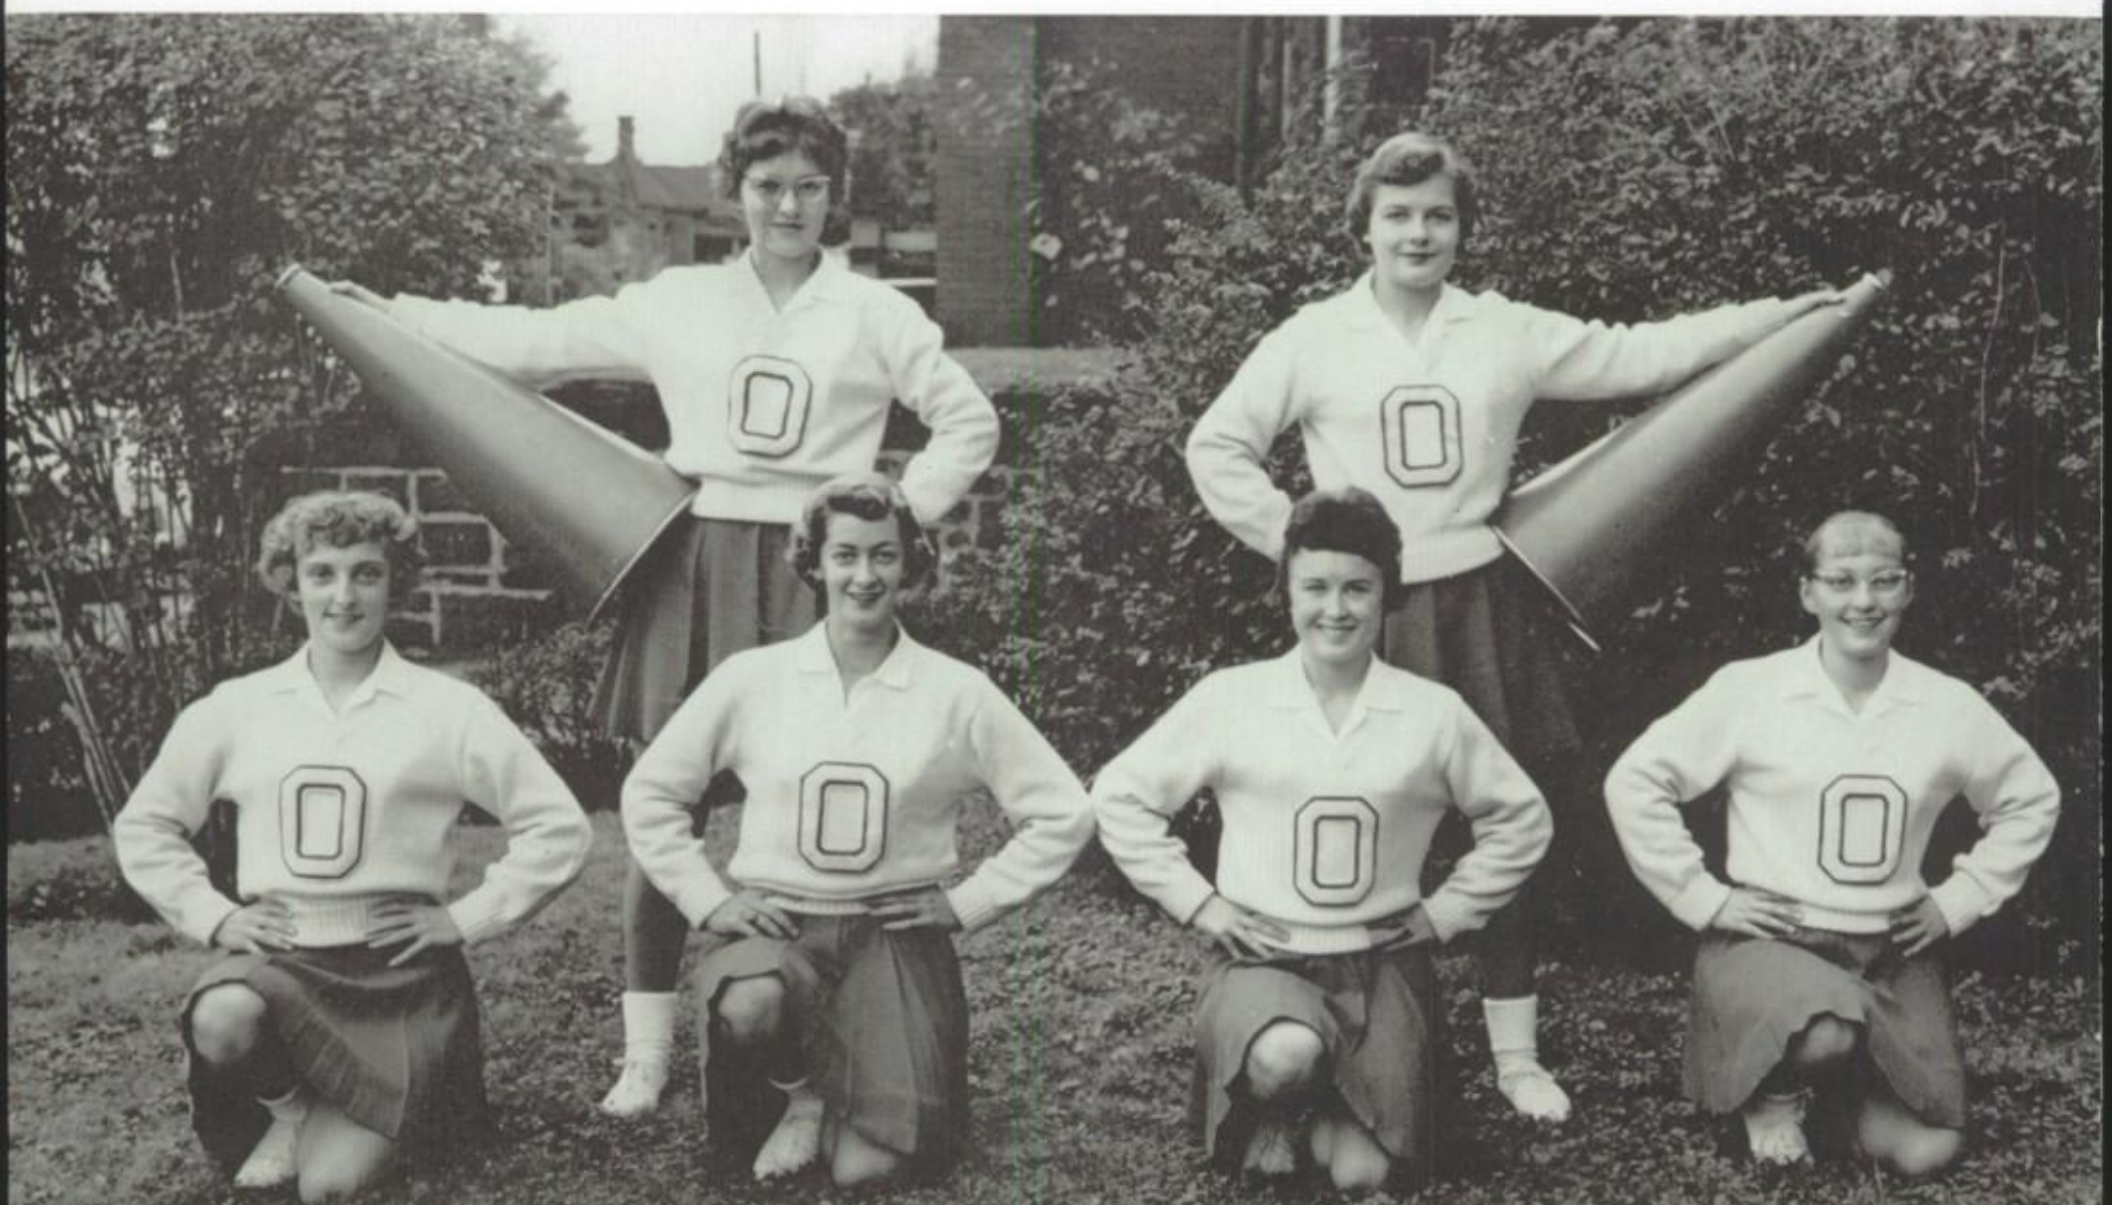
Girls' Athletic Association

As in the past, many girls participated in after-school sports. Tournaments were held in the fall for ping-pong; then during the winter months, the girls played volleyball and basketball in their free time. In the spring tumbling became the after-school activity. Awards were presented to girls from grades eight through twelve, who had accumulated the required points.

Girls learned the value of sportsmanship through this extra-curricular activity.

Elva Knight, Judy Kluck, and Pat Beatty enjoy a game of jacks. Jacks is only one of the many sports in the girls' phys. ed classes.

O. C. cheerleaders--vivacious, versatile



VARSITY CHEERLEADERS—Kneeling: Nancy Culbertson, Roberta Breene, Dottie Zucco, Janet Evans. Standing: Judy Myers, Judy Craig.

Miss Hannigan, the new physical education instructor and cheerleading coach, meets one of the O.C.H.S. cheerleaders, Marianne Bouquin.

Cheerleaders

Last spring twelve girls were chosen by a committee of teachers and students to be the cheerleaders of O.C.H.S. for the following sports season. These girls and their coach Mrs. Samonsky worked long, hard hours to perfect cheers which they used at the games and in the pep meetings. Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity squads led cheers for all home games; and the Varsity squad, for the away games.

Whenever the girls are seen cheering, everyone agrees that they are "tops"!

Varsity squad receives recognition.

Judy Myers, Mrs. Samonsky, and Judy Craig are proud of the trophy that the Varsity squad won in competition at Mercer.

Trophy Winners

Yea blue! Yea white! Yea team! Let's fight! was a familiar cry used by the Varsity Cheerleaders during the Mercer High School Invitational Basketball Tournament, which was held during Christmas vacation on December 26 and 28, 1959. Full of vim, vigor, and vitality, our girls competed against cheerleading squads from Mercer, Fredonia, and Union Joint. The Varsity Cheerleaders were presented with a trophy for "Outstanding Cheerleaders" on December 28. Groups were judged on appearance, co-ordination, timing, agility, type of cheers used, and sportsmanship. The squads were viewed during the games in which their team participated.

The cheerleaders worked long and hard with the help of Mrs. Samonsky and were very proud to accept this trophy.

Congratulations, cheerleaders!

Forward ever, backward never;
High are meant our aims to be.
Years of knowledge we'll endeavor
Using learning as our key.

We have now come to the last page of our 1960 Oil Can. Many memorable events and personalities have been recorded in this annual in hopes that in future years one chapter of your life can be easily recalled.

After you close this volume, which has been written for you, you begin writing your own. Each of you will go your separate way, trying but not always succeeding in your various endeavors. However, you will learn and profit much through trial and error.

Each of you will travel a separate path, discover new horizons, and establish yourself in a specific place in society. But no matter how far you grow apart from each other, you will constantly have one thing in common—that no matter how much you gain from experience and study, you will never become fully aware of the vast field of knowledge; and so you continue to learn, for learning is a continuous process.

Nancy and Barbara

Sally,
Well, I could write a book concerning
the fun we had this year.
You know, "Willie", "Ethel", that Saturday night, and (←——) in Ethel's class. Well, as they say all good hearts end sometime. Always Daya' sweet as you are and she'll keep going together. It's been a lot of fun having you for a friend this year & I hope we can continue our friendship for the next two years.

Sally,
I don't have much room so I will say
best of luck to a
real swell girl.
Norma
Straul

Sally:
Good luck
next year.
Tom Jackie

Lots of love,
Jackie

Sarah,
Remember all the times I cheat you in latin! Be good & study hard next yea. It's sort of tough.
The Menace,
Pete Ahrenski

Sally:
To the nicest
librarian in the school. Good luck
in your future years.
And may all your wishes
come true. and your road ahead be a happy one.
May our friendship never end.
L.O.L. to a swell girl
Judy
Siverling

SALLY,
BEST OF LUCK TO A REAL
SWEET GAL. I KNOW YOU'LL
SUCCEED IN EVERYTHING YOU DO.
I HOPE WE CAN HAVE AS MUCH FUN IN GIRLS CHOIR AS WE HAD
IN GIRLS CHORUS THIS YEAR.
YOUR REALLY A SWELL
GIRL. LOVE & LOLLIPOPS
Patti

Dear Sally,

Now that I'm leaving I'm afraid
I'll have to leave you to the O.C.H.S. boys. I hope you remember all the good times we had with willy. Also remember all the fun we had that saturday night with the (- - -). Best of luck next year as a junior & as a senior.

your friend
Margie "60"

Good luck

Sally,
Best of luck
in the years to come to a great pal.

Sally,
It's been a wonderful year here at
me. I hope that our friendship will continue this year, but continue our whole lives through
Lots of Luck and my Best Wishes for a
Happy year ahead in
I suppose
next year.
